

Old Chap, One telescope, with jellyfish!

LUNETA / TELESCOPE /
ONE VODKA
(COLD, OF COURSE)

LORNETA / BINOCULARS /
TWO VODKAS
(ALSO COLD, NECESSARILY)

The 50's of former century.

The social elites of Warsaw, one could usually meet in "Kameralna" on Foksal street. The famous "dissection-room" was there too and contained all possible sorts of starters with a mandatory "jellyfish" - pig trotters jelly. Aside from foreign cigarettes, the porter had ties for guests, as such was the dress code.

Marek Hłasko, Leopold Tyrmand and other "stilyagi dandies", as well as my mother and father, while ordering one vodka, they asked for a "telescope with a jellyfish". Two vodkas were obviously the famous "binoculars". I experienced it myself, at a later period, "Luneta" or "Lorneta" could have been ordered "only for consumption" - listings of "jellyfish", "herring" and other dissector occupants were enviable. Until the fall of the system.
